COTTON MARKETS

Weather Not Bad as Feared, Less Urgency for Spots, Encouraging Realizing.

cotton market early today, but it was anticipated, which encouraged some all position to accept profits and play for me advices to the effect that demand for the action was hardly so orgent as much selling. It was regarded as rea-in had. Spois were marked up a points net to he had. Spois were marked up a points indding to 22.17d. Only 6,000 bales were covered. Manchestar advised that loths were hardening and huminess were strong and uniness extensive.

Opening prices on this side were close of last night? I finals, Lecsmber being a points, at 44.50c. There was a suck bulge to 48.84c, which proved top, for the weather news came better than expected and some profits were coepted. The map showed that the high roots was a light one in the Panamalle of Texas. Oklahoma escaping beaute of cloudiness. Considerable rained in the lower part of Texas and astward, but this was inticipated to come extent in vesterday a market The indications were for fair and warner western beit fair and cooler to the eastward, with possibly light frost to the upper part of the central beit anight. That encouraged a little dispolition to think the worst was over for the time being as to the rains.

eastward, but this was anticipated to some extent in vesterday's market. The indications were for fair and warmer in the western beit, fair and cooler to the eastward, with possibly light frost in the upper part of the central belt tonight. That encouraged a little disposation to think the worst was over for the time being as to the rains.

The market backed and tilled most of the day, but in the afternoon was disposed to sag a little. December selling to 14.28c a short while before the close. It was assumed that this was encouraged by reports or less urgent fremand for the actual and more hedge aeiling on a market with less buying disposition.

The movement into sight figures showed that there is likelihood of larger exports soon, for the amount for the period was 496,000 bales. Spinners takings were reported as looking like they would be about 200,000 bales, which compared with 189,000 a year ago. Thus the visible supply was expected to show a relative decrease.

Spots were by no means weak and it remains to be seen whether the October commitments have been sufficiently reduced to check the rising tendency.

ROUND THE TICKER-

Cotton. New York—Large number cotton wills in foreign exchange market last few days may point to larger exports— Clevenburg to Cotter & Turner.

New Orleans—If spot demand lets a market likely experience sharp decline my temporary.—Beer to McFall. only temporary.—Beer to McFall.

New Orleans—Liverpool 10 to 12 un against unchanged due. Spot demand still strong, dail sales 15,000 bales. Russian news in favor of silles and defeat of Shantung amendment in senate, probably were alimulating factors in the English market, and may find hullish expression on our sids. Washington mays president's condition much improved. Technical conditions unfavorable and the hasis for reaction selling. Rumor current of large speculative long interest in spots.—Koffer.

Austin Tev. Bouts. Part.

Trading became dull at midday but leaders, excepting Steels, showing little disposition to yield. Other minor specialles were added to the list of the morning and leather, polacce, chemical shares also improved oils and motors meanwhile extending their gains. Call money eased to 6 per cent, the week's lowest rate, in the last hour, and standard shares, including steels, equipments and rails were more responsive. The closing was strong. Sales approximated 1,300,000 shares. Austin, Tex -Route Fort Worth emple to Austin, heavy rains fel Temple to Austin, heavy rains fell Thursday; all along everything was already songry wet; ennot estimate damage to cotton, but unless we get dry wenther real soon cotton will rot in the fields: a coid nerth wind blowing to-day.—J. W. Ray, Weld's traveler. New York—Warhington news bullish, indicates early peace ratification and successful outcome industrial conference rading strikes; keep long cotton.—Mc-Eiroy to Cotier & Turner.

New York—Opens quiet with outside suying; March looks higher, as no seavy hedge selling; traders not se utilish, thinking market full of con-racts—Hubbard to Reese.

New York—Traders feel market will not absorb this hedge selling with clear weather.—Hubbard to Reese. New York-Liverpool cables: "Continental and trade buying little hedge selling, little long liquidation around 22.56d good spot demand, very steady market on continued poor crop accounts—Weld to Gibbons.

Counts.—Weld to Globons

New York.—Considerable realizing going on—may go somewhat further, but if we have good break would buy it.—Gwathney to Foster.

New Orleans.—The market is steady enough, but is not feeling any very aggressive buying. In some spot quarters it is claimed that the spot demand is falling off and Dallas sales vesterday of 8,700 bales are pointed to as proof of it. This probably means that first half of October commitments are covered, but it does not mean that and of October. Bearish traders are inclined to sell short on the better weather outlook.—S. G.

New Orleans.—Reacted on selling on

New Orleans.—Reacted on selling or etter weather outlook, expectation of better weather outlook, expectation of tension in spots becoming partly re-lieved with better weather for harvest-ing of crop, weaker technical conditions, However, spots are firm, although de-mand seems, less aggressive and with futures at such discount under spot prices, the contract market could de-velop good rallies. Think a purchase on reactions for moderate rally.—Kofler to Clark & Co.

Housten, Tex., wires: "The demand for spots from Europe is slow and at nothing like the prevailing basis. The local genand from shorts seems to have eased somewhat."

get some recession before completed, but good general demand continues and ton very steady.—Gwathney to Foster New Orleans.—On reaction in this market the difference between distant and near positions would narrow, but look eventually for increased discount.—Kofler.

Washington.—Senate today adopted resolution directing department of agriculture to make a new survey of prospective cotton crop, which means the report will be issued about Nov. 2. 1 Exports from Aug. 1 to Oct. 17 show following: Great Britain, 433,511 vs. 424,474 and 759,528 two years ago. France. 72,618 vs. 123,734 and 197,832. Continent, 410,541 vs. 265,377 and 230,456. Total 216,770 vs. 813,534 and 1,187,818 Houston wires: There is no slackening in demand; every bale of midding or above is promptly sold; think purchases would be much larger, but owing bad weather not much cotton of fered.—Weld to Gibbons.

Barnes, director of the grain corporation, in a speech at a banquet in the Blackstone hotel last night, said in part as follows: "I wish to make public acknowledgement that you played fair and square, and to thank your bankers who helped in every demand of the grain corporation, for Chicago business truly realized what services meant. But now my message is that we are to withdraw the grain corporation, as is right and just. I make the announcement with the full approval of the president, for I know he does approve. It is only fair and just that the normal channels of trade be permitted to resume and I don't fear the apprehension that others do."

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Once in every 24 hours the starving people of Colomea are allotted from the public kitchen a single portion of mamaliga is kind of mative rice) and a thin soup of potatoes or beans. This, writes Bernard Zuckerman, representative of the joint distribution committee which is in charge of the relief work made possible by funds raised by the American Jewish relief committee and similar organizations. "Is all the nourishment each person can get." Colomes, he states, is a city in the Bukowina, which typifies conditions generally in that section of the Near East.
